

The St Helena Research Institute

in St Helena, by St Helena, for St Helena

Nature's Benefits: Natural Capital in the South Atlantic

12 March 2019

Why a Research Institute?

- St Helena is a unique and fascinating place and offers research opportunities that can be found nowhere else in the world
- A research institute can support, promote and manage research and researchers for the benefit of St Helena

Our vision...

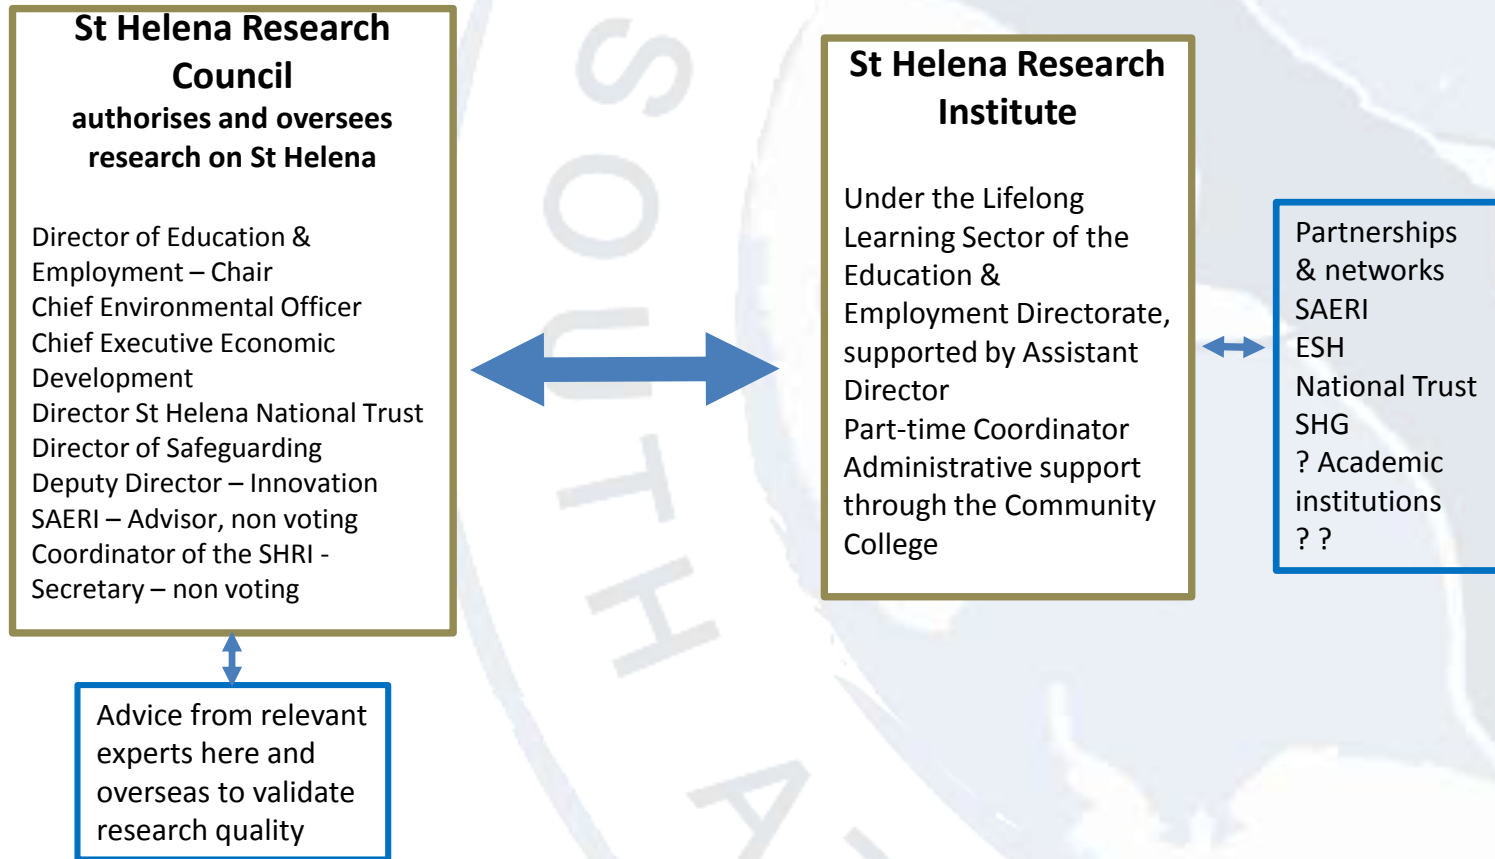

The St Helena Research Institute
a collaborative organization founded in St Helena promoting and conducting high quality, ethical and responsible research that advances understanding, supports excellence in education and respects and protects people, our heritage and environment.

- supporting, promoting and managing research activities on St Helena
- ensuring that research and researchers benefit the island
- protecting the resources being studied
- realizing potential benefits

What will we do?

Our Structure

Where are we now ?

- Finalising the policy framework
- Establishing the new licencing system
- Setting up our website
- Preparing a business plan
- Identifying resource needs
- Collaborating & developing partnerships

Where can you find us?

Google Maps

Flat 4 Canarvon Court, Jamestown
Tel No: 22607 Ext No: 221

rebecca.cairns-wicks@sainthelena.gov.sh

Map data ©2019 Google

50 m

A Regional Model

SAERI – started by the Falkland Islands Government

SHRI - working within the framework of a growing network of sister organisations, that are territory-led and share expertise and experience between the islands

The UKOT Research institute network

Thank you to our funders

Funded by
UK Government

